WE NOMINATE

Victor Lange, one of this country's dominant forces in the field of Germanic studies and a vibrant link between West German scholarly and literary organizations and their American counterparts. This week the 57-year old Lange was zipped into the news with the announcement from Berlin that "Group 47," founded in 1947 by progressive anti-Nazi writers and considered the most influential literary association Germany and Europe have known in decades, has been invited by Princeton University to gather here next month for its annual closed meeting and a one-day "open conference" concerned with the exchange of opinion between Americans and Germans in the general area of "intercultural relations."

Preliminary interest in the Princeton gatherings, projected for April 22-25, has been fanned by the possibility that such West German luminaries as Gunter Grass, Peter Weiss and Hans Werner Richter might be joined here by a sprinkling of East German writers, most of whom have been under attack by Communists for their "unorthodox views." The East Germans, whose entry visas have recently been applied for through the American Consulate in Berlin, would be together with other writers, critics and publishers—the guests of "Group 47" that has brought forth most of the successful younger writers in post-World War II Germany.

The idea of inviting "Group 47" to Princeton, a conclave marking only the second time in 20 years the association has met beyond the boundaries of West Germany, originated with Lange, currently serving as president of the International Association of Germanic Studies which draws its membership of some 700 scholars from 30 countries. In a very real sense, when all of the details fall into place, the program here will be a capstone in Lange's efforts over the years to strengthen German-American friendship and to promote a continuing dialogue between the United States and a generation of Germans who have broken with their past.

Thrice in recent years the German-born Lange, responsible for the development of a singularly effective summer-work program for American college students in Germany, has been accorded high honors by a grateful West Germany. He was awarded the Commander's Cross of the Order of Merit of the Federal Republic of Germany in 1957, the same year he was elected a corresponding member of the German Academy of Letters in Darmstadt. Three years ago, by vote of the University's Senate, he was named to a life-time appointment as Honorary Professor at the Free University of Berlin.

Called to Princeton from Cornell in 1957, and since 1958 chairman of the then newly established Department of Germanic Languages and Literatures, the energetic Lange is the author of numerous volumes of literary criticism with his interests centering around Goethe and German and comparative literature. A former Counselor for the Department of State and for many years Examiner-in-Chief in German for the College Entrance Examination Board, he is active in a dozen professional societies, ranging from the Modern Language Association to the Authors Club of London, and can consider himself an alumnus of universities in four nations—Leipzig and Munich, Paris, Oxford and Toronto.

For adding a new dimension to the Princeton Community's outreach in the world of letters; for ever seeking to interpret the role of the United States as a cultural force in the world of today; for his contributions as scholar, teacher and cultural ambassador; he is our nominee as

SURVEY COMPLETED
Suggests Use for School. A plan for converting Witherspoon School to a Community Center has been presented to Princeton in the Citizens' Survey Committee report released this week by the United Fund. The survey as a whole examines all United Fund agencies and others that serve the Princeton area, including government health and welfare offices, and it occupied 18 months of professional and non-professional time and talent.

The Building Panel that suggested the Community Center plan began its study in late October and completed it in two months. The Panel proposes that the school become a versatile Community Center, its 12,500 square feet, gymnasium and cafeteria would become the home of the United Fund, about 13 Fund agencies and the Council of Community Services.

In remaining spaces, there would be a teen drop-in lounge, a hobby center for residents of all ages, an office for the Recreation Commission, whose staff would supervise activity in the teen lounge, the gym and the playground.

With as many agencies as possible and the Fund itself in one building, there could be a central file, the quick referral of a client from one agency to another and a place for lunch conferences. The Panel then urges the Borough government to buy the Bannan warehouse property on Maclean Street, which adjoins the school playground, and convert its two acres to a small park.

THE WHEELS START TURNING: Projects to be presented to the adult Borough Board of Education are being welcomed by Student Administration Day officials at Princeton High School, who moved into one-day administrative posts on Wednesday. Seated (from left) Curt Mitchell, Rich Stewart, Glenn Johnson, Board attorney; Michael Smith, Board president; Lora Engelmann, school superintendent; Mary Ann Cook, Board vice-president; Peggy Anderson, and Gail Pool; (standing) Elvree Kramer, business manager; Sharon Campbell, Board secretary; Tom Yoder and Louise MacDonald. Wilbur Hines was absent.

Money? Purchase and raising of the Bannan warehouse, $75,000. Purchase of the school, $100,000. Alterations to school, $75,000.

Possibly, the brand-new Grants for Neighborhood Facilities program of the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development might apply toward purchase of the school. The Regional Director of Community Facilities has told the Panel that the park might qualify under a new urban Open Space program.

Together, they might cover two-thirds of the project's cost. Beyond this, the proposal concludes only that "we believe the rest of the money might be found to realize these projects."

Unanimously, Building Panel members concluded that tearing down the school would mean a loss of several hundred thousand dollars to the community.

"The opportunity to obtain as a Community Center a project of such usefulness to the immediate neighborhood as to the community at large is not likely to occur again," and the Panel recommends appointment of a committee to go ahead with the plan.

Survey Launched in 1964. The purpose of the survey, which began in September, 1964, was to scrutinize each Fund agency, require each agency to scrutinize itself, examine agencies outside the Fund fold and to see how everything might be improved, tightened, deepened and made more responsive to a community which is growing like an anemone.

As a whole — and it's a 137-page volume, available for reading at the public library — the survey is thorough and detailed, and its exposure of the health-welfare situation is most enlightening. But there are spots where it is not critical enough, not radical enough in its questioning, and too polite about naming names or accepting a status quo.

First, "General Problems." The Fund area reaches out to Hightstown, Montgomery, Lawrence, Hopewell and East Windsor, Rocky Hill, Marlboro, Cranbury and Franklin, an area with 42,700 people. But not all Fund service is equally available to everybody in the area and even agency executives always know where people should go for what service under what conditions.

For example, the Visiting Nurse Association serves only Princeton. The Princeton Nursery School only Princeton boys and girls. Indigent patients from Middlesex and Somerset are not accepted at Princeton Hospital, although

Birthday for TOWN TOPICS

If you're old enough to vote, chances are you remember March, 1946. You couldn't buy a new automobile, or sometimes even a new tire for your old car. Here in Princeton, Palmer Square wasn't yet ten years old and they were still playing basketball games in Baker Park because the University's burned out gymnasium hadn't been rebuilt.

Harry S. Truman was in the White House, and Korea was just another country somewhere in Asia. The New Jersey Turnpike wasn't even on the drawing boards and the only school in Princeton Township was Valley Road.

On March 14, 1946, the first issue of TOWN TOPICS was published. Today, the average issue is more than 20 times larger than it was 20 years ago, but rather than say "Happy Birthday to Us," we prefer to thank all of you who have made such steady growth possible.

Helping patients from those areas. So it goes.

The survey suggests that the Council of Community Services put together a Directory of School Services and that the Fund itself work out ways to make sure that all residents of the Fund area have equal access to whatever agency they need.

The survey turns its sharpest eye on municipal health and welfare services. "The inadequacy of public assistance programs has been very forcefully brought to our attention. The survey considers the solution of this problem of primary importance."

A Time to Name Names. Within the Fund area, abuses produce hardship. Montgomery Township frankly says it administers its welfare program so that a relief family will move on. Much welfare is doled out on the basis of moral judgment (the "worthy" vs. the "unworthy" poor), the survey charges, adding that one community "will not pay which is the worst of all. After one week if the person has no legal residence."

Another community (again, we don't name the survey name) doesn't not recognize any situation as an emergency except fire. Many towns are afraid that any social work will cost too much, but they do not take advantage of state aid, which may be as high as 85%. Also, there are few trained social workers so that welfare workers have to help in rehabilitation.

In one of its most forceful recommendations, the survey asks the Council of Community Services to name a citizens committee representing all municipal officials in an intensive campaign of education. Continued on Page 2

IS AFRICA LIKE THIS?
Council Has Guests, Six attentive Parvies Follow from India and Africa, spending year at the Woodrow Wilson School to see what America is like, watched on Tuesday night
while Borough Councilmen passed a $1 million budget.
Listened to an intense discussion of how much it would pay to go swimming, discovered that some Princetonians feel passionately about street lights and learned that the big silver maple on Green Street has finally been removed.

"We're glad to see you again," said Council President William L. Walker, presiding in Mayor Henry S. Patterson's absence, to Charles Cornforth, 71 Westcott Road.

Mr. Cornforth, a gentleman with courtly southern manners and an IBM finish, appears each year before Council to ask questions about the budget.

This year, he began with payroll and learned from Administrator Robert Mooney that the Borough is about to implement the salary adjustments made by Barrington and
Co. in a study done last year.
Full-time Borough employees will receive about 5.5% increase, Mr. Mooney said.

How Many Work Here? "I should like to suggest, respectfully, of course, that the Borough include in its budget presentation each year the number of Borough employees," Mr.
Cornforth said, "just so you can tell the public it's so easy to up the budget by adding just one or two employees."

He asked why the cost of garbage collection had increased 45% in six years?
"More Borough residents," said Engineer Thomas Cawley, and additional trash pickups. He asked why, when the rate of budget increase had been about 2%, that in the last three years the increases had been about 7%? He suggested a 3.2% figure as a "yardstick" of increase.

At this point, Robert van de Velde, said to the six Parvies fellow, said, "I'd like to offer another philosophy of government: don't have a 2% ceiling as your yardstick. Have as your yardstick 'What does the town need?'"

Mr. Walker protested that this was indeed Council's approach. He also pointed out that Council had asked Mr. van de Velde's proposal to increase the mayor's salary and start paying Councilmen.

This year's tax increases: 27 cents more for schools, 16 cents more for the Borough, eight cents more for local purposes: 51 cents more a year per year, or $4.64 per $100 of assessed valuation, opposed to $4.13 in 1965. For a $30,000 house, a $906 tax bill.

The budget was passed,
unanimously.

Pool Fees, A letter of protest

"I don't care HOW good it is for the Stony Brook Watershed!"

against the swimming pool fees draw a prepared defense from Councilman Enoch Durbin, who is Councilman on the Joint Recreation Board. He quoted a 1964 survey of 102 towns showing an average fee of $30 (the Princeton fee is $40), and he announced that starting in April, residents may begin paying their $40 fee
"on time" at $5 a week.

Daily fees were set high on purpose, Mr. Durbin said, to encourage full-family participation through a season subscription. He compared the pool to a hospital: the community (or the hospital) pays the capital cost of building the pool, the patients (or the swimmers) pay to use it. Those who can't pay will be helped by "fellowships."

To a protest by Seymour Alpert for PAHR that the pool, such a fee scale, would be become a "country club," Mr.
Durbin replied, "I hope it does!
A country club for the whole community, to draw Borough and Township people together."

Mr. Alpert stated that many people could not afford the fee and Mr. van de Velde echoed his contention. When Mr. Alpert asked what percentage of Princeton families would participate in the pool, Mr. Durbin replied that for purposes of budgeting, the Recreation Board had figured 8% of Princeton's families would participate. He said there were no free pools in the state except those built by private individuals, or those like quarries, which are natural bodies of water.

Princeton Hospital asked for a waiver of the building permit fee (about $4,200 for its new "J" Building). Council told the hospital the fee had to be paid, but that the Borough would contribute the amount to the building fund if 6% of Princeton's families would participate.

Anguished letters of protest
on goose-neck mercury street lights drew a soothing assurance from Mr. Mooney that Public Service will survey the whole matter, then discuss it with the Borough. He added that goose-necks would probably be installed only at intersections.

The Chamber of Commerce sent a letter urging a single street name for the Hodge - Aviston - Jackson - Wigwam - Hamilton - Rollingmead ribbon that will be created by the realignment of Jackson.

One wag has suggested 1-06.

Princeton, 74 cents per capita elsewhere. Boy Scouts, 35 cents here; 34 cents in comparable Fund areas. Girl Scouts are even less in Princeton, 38 cents, than elsewhere, 28 cents.

Using a kind of report-card chart, the survey rates agencies by impact in the Pond area (Child Guidance, Family Service and Visiting Nurse are the only ones rated Number One in this category—of their general quality. Mental Health rates lowest with the only "D" meaning "quite a number of improvements could be made." Nurses' School and Visiting Nurse came away with a "C" for "several improvements." Family Service, Boy and Girl Scouts, HomeMaker Service and YMCA rate a "B" for "good." YWCA, Child Guidance and Retarded Children derive the top "A" for "excellent."

NEED THE HOSPITAL? Fund Asks Records, Princeton Hospital was not evaluated like the other agencies in the United Fund survey. The Fund's contribution to the hospital is a big slice of Fund money—$30,000—but very small slice of the hospital's $3.3 million budget, in fact, only 1.4%.

The Fund is concerned about the way the hospital has to treat the indigent and the ways the hospital can be reimbursed for these services. For example, the hospital does not accept any indigent patients from outside Mercer County because it has no legal way of recovering payment by a town in another county for services given to its poor and sick.

Princeton Hospital never refuses emergency cases no matter where the patient lives, and under this policy, many indigent patients outside the county but inside the Fund area, are cared for in the hospital and moved out as soon as possible. This causes misunderstandings and hostility toward both hospital and Fund.

The hospital will be asked to keep specific records from now on of indigent cases. The Fund may decide to "revolute" its policy on the hospital's allocation and decide to give its money to specific services like the Home Care program, instead of to the hospital generally, where it can be swallowed and lost.

On April 9, bright-colored balloons marked "Princeton Student Lounge" will be sold at the crew races on Lake Carnegie and at the Princeton Rider baseball game. They'll re-appear whenever the students hear of a sizeable crowd. Betsy Hartmann and Bebe Ramus are co-chairmen.

April 2 and 16 will be car wash days in Princeton, with Tom Gorman heading the student crew.

Community Dinners Planned The first of a series of community dinners will be held on April 15 in an effort to inform parents and adults about the teenager's world. There will be films and discussion. The planning committee, which has not settled upon a location for the dinners, includes Linda Hart, Donna Petzold, Pat Rogers, Vicki Webb and Heidi Hoffmann. The teenagers will do the cooking and serving; the parents are to pay to get in.

The president of the PHS student council, Art Buckland, met with the chairmen of the social concerns committees of eight churches on Thursday at Princeton Methodist Church to discuss the Princeton Student Lounge. A youth center, the chairman had agreed at their first joint meeting a month ago, was a priority need in Princeton. Participants were Mrs. Peter Groves, Society of Friends; Mrs. Walter Wagner, First Presbyterian Church; John T. Fischer, Lutheran Church of the Messiah; Mr.

and Mrs. Jackson P. English, Presbyterian Church; Louis Bain, Princeton Methodist; George Geary, Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church; James Nix, Calvary Baptist Church; Seymour A. pert, PAIRH and Mrs. Rogers, Carrington of Youth Association. The representative of Princeton Jewish Center was absent.

Mrs. Carrington traced the history of teenage centers in Princeton, a history marked by temporary successes followed by failures. The most recent center to close was "The Den," which opened a year ago in the Dorothea House, John Street and Avalon Place, and folded last June.

The Den was cramped for space, lacked variety of activity and was located in an all-Negro neighborhood. The number of teenagers who had worked hard with the Negro students to open the Den began to stir. "On the other side of town, it could have happened just the reverse." The students, Art Buckland, told the committee, want enough room for every body.

It was in the fall of 1964, Art Buckland said, Jay Breese, then student council president, organized a committee to research possible locations for a lounge. They talked to property owners, realtors, churches, restaurants, Borough Council, investigated the public library building, Herb Kane's building on Spring street, Miss Fune's, everywhere.

"The store owners wanted to support it, but they didn't want to get involved. When they talked to lawyers and various businessmen, they were told that expense of Nassau Street land was too high for them to take on."

This year, the students tried again, with Art as president, and won an offer of Reverie's basement from Harold Ostraff. It was decided that it would bring up the same problems that polished off The Den. They turned to the public park being developed under the Recreation Department. Tentative floor plans and recommendations for self-government were developed.

For Repertory. Hilarity and intense emotion will be contrasted on the McCart stage this Friday at 8:30 when McCart's repertory company presents its third offering of the season.

The one-act comedy, "Box and Cox" by John Madison Morton, will raise the curtain for August Strindberg's powerful "Miss Julie."

"Box and Cox" will star McCart favorite, Mario Silotti as James Cox, the Hatter, and Clarence Felder as John Box the Printer. A newcomer, Frederic O'Brady will play the rooming-house proprietor, Mrs. Bouncer. Yes, that's right: Mr. O'Brady will be Mrs. Bouncer.

A lecturer in French at Princeton University, Mr. O'Brady has appeared in more than 30 French films. He co-starred with Robert Mitchum in "Foreign Intrigue" and appeared on the American stage in "La Plume de ma Tante."

For "Miss Julie," Donald Moffat is directing his wife, Anne Murray, in the title role. Eve Johnson in the role of Kristin and Tony Musante in the role of Jean.

AN EASTER PRESENT More "Midsummer" Two additional performances of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" have been scheduled by McCart's repertory company for the Easter weekend, April 9 and 10.

The play has not been cut slightly for these two occasions, and will be presented especially for children to show them that Shakespeare Can Be Fun. The performances will be given on Saturday, April 9, at 2:30 and on Sunday, April 10, at 3 at the theatre. Tickets are now on sale at $1 and $1.50 for orchestra seats and $1 and 75 cents for the balcony.

"LYSISTRATA"
By Playwright Aristophanes' famous statement against war, "Lysistrata," will be given by Princeton Community Players on three successive week-ends starting Friday, March 25. The Players will perform, as usual, in Murray Theatre on the University campus.

Irene Rosenberg, who portrayed Miss Gilechrist in "The Hostage," will be Lysistrata. Aydin Umar, who played innocent Richard in "Dial M for Murder," will be the Commissioner. Other members of the cast are Lois and Leo Cohen, June Cavello, Laurie Jones, Trevor Owens, Tom Schmitz, Charles Green, Nancy Buckle, Ellen Quenon, Yota Switzbeige, Amanda More, Irene Moore, Mike Conant and Dan Weidre. Harry Hubel is the director.

"OLE!" AGAIN
Greece To Return. The flamenco dancers, singers and musicians who belong to the Jose Greco troupe will once again come to McCart Theatre in a program of Spanish dance.

Senior Greco will appear with his company in McCart Theatre on Tuesday, March 29, at 8:00. Besides flamenco, the dancers will present representative examples of classic Spanish dance, regional dances and folk dances.

Lola DeRonda, prima ballerina of the Greco company since 1952, will again be the leading dancer. Her forte is the classic Spanish dance, but she is equally at home with the folk groups.

THE CHASE: Marlon Brando is the sheriff who sold out in the tale of small town corruption now at the Prince Theatre.

Fonda appears as the playgirl
wife of an escaped convict, played by Robert Redford.
Others in the cast are Angie
Dickinson as the sheriff's wife, Janice Rule as the bored wife of a banker and James Fox and Lidia Torres, the blonde society's traitorous best friend. Also in the cast are Miriam Hopkins, Henry Hall
and Diana Nyland.

PLAYHOUSE

Our Men Play now playing is an entertaining spoof
on secret agent routines.
Leading nations of the world are confounded by abnormal weather changes that seem to be man-manipulated. Efforts by espionage leaders to find the source of the trouble meet with little success, and Flint,
a former military and explosive hero, is called in Flint is played in a slick parody of Agent 007 by actor James Coburn. Three mad scientists in order: Flint rubbed out before they present an ultimatum to the nations to junk their military defenses or be destroyed.

The traps are set, scores of beautiful girls get involved and there's a showdown on a Pacific island. The pace is fast, often funny, and the acting is competent.

GARDEN

Life at the Top (now playing) continues the story of Joe Langston, the English chap tracks in a foully Trent town run by a wealthy landowner, Jane

War married to the boss's daughter and filling a hollow role in his father-in-law's business, he is bored and bitter.
His dilemma is presented as an emotional and melodramatic merry-go-round compounded of frustration, frenzied
sexual activity, constant quarreling and hatred. The film

IT'S NEW To Us

DEAR SIR OR MADAM

As The Case May Be. Some of the best-looking notecards we've seen in a long time have been mailed to The Country House from Caspari — the firm that makes the delightful place-mats, and we'll talk about those, too, in a moment. The cards measure about four by six inches. On the front of each is a colored reproduction, chosen with imagination and originality and executed with precision and skill. (One box has details from the 16th-century Beauce tapestry from Beauce, France; three different bird designs chosen from various parts of the tapestry.)

In another box are delicious East Indian miniatures. In a third, brilliant examples of Norwegian folk embroidery (the blues in these are terrific).

There are pictures of delightful weavings made by Egyptian children in the studio of Ramses Wessa Wassef. Charming little pictures of birds and folk designs make up another group. Something for every taste, as you can see, and only $1 a box.

Those Caspari place mats, you'll recall are eight for $1, treated to resist the toughest guest. Danish folk embroidery has been used on one set. It's an ingenious cross-stitched pattern in happy peasant blue. Another, more sophisticated, is a medieval king on horseback, taken from a picture in the Danish National Museum.

In quite a different vein, there's a set of mats with close-up color photographs of flowers. We like "Cordflowers" with their brilliant blue, the red of poppies and the white of daisies photographed against a sunlit straw background. Use them for breakfast in a sunny window, with lots of strawberries and cream.

The tea-totals from Country House's kitchen — if he had one — are botanical in motif. Sometimes as straightforward as a botanical print ("A Naturalist's Notebook," one is called), sometimes just a pleasant, over-size print of gooseberries, blackberries, cranberries and strawberries all on one cheerful towel.

Will your birthday be a happy one? Probably, if someone is thoughtful enough to send one of those wild giant cards, the ones 9 x 12 inches with the big wool tassel depending from a corner.

Each card has an animal on the front, painted with a thicker palette knife than Van Gogh himself ever used, and very, very, three-dimensional. Those cards, believe us, you can read in Braille.

Well, anyhow, here's a leering crocodile with the message "Keep smiling" and a snorting dragon with "Huge you got

You, Too, Can Decoy

"Decay," a tooth-preventive dentifrice, is now on the counter at that eminent drug-store, The Country House.

According to the label, it contains "J.T. (Just Plain Toothpaste)" and is "an effective tooth preventive when used in a continuously applied program of heavy brushing."

The manufacturers make no startling claims, but they do indicate a possible 31% more cavities if directions are followed scrupulously.

Your old fire back" and "want another birthday to a couple of chickens like us." That kind of thing. An owl, a hippo and the inevitable tiger round out the zoo, $1.50 each.

"No problem," says Linus, "is so great or so complicated it can't be run away from."

This is a nagged from a series of three "Peanuts" philosophy books, hard-cover, $1.25 each. Lucy contributes "A woman's handshake is not legally binding" and Snoopy comes across with "Never relieve a dirty tennis ball before breakfast."

We leave Country House carrying a minute (six inch) greenhouse with real "Lemon Drop" miniature marigolds and "Tiny Tim" tomatoes growing from thumb-sized pots. You bring mayonnaise. $2.50.

WE SELL SHEELS

To She's, Landau launches the spring season with a collection of shells in antron, cotton, Tyeon. —not all together in the same line because that would rock the boat.

Antron boucle has been used for some quietly sophisticated ones, sleeveless or short sleeves, crew or little-bow necklines. Sand, pink, grey and pitch-black, just waiting for your most elegant spring outfit.

For play, there's a striped "poor boy" whose stripes match a batch of homespun skirts. The little ribbed tops are $3.98 with short sleeves.

Cotton "poor boys" come in bright lemon, claret, navy and olive with pinstripes on the way. Some other striped tops match the College Town skirts. These are avocado and a very, very deep bronzy tobacco, each with white stripes, $5.98.

Now, about the skirts. Those homespun ones are cotton-rayon, bonded, in a very nice grid, cranberry or powder. You may also have them in a shirte or a "pert" — a "pert" being a pair of print Bermuda shorts with completely attached front and back panel in homespun, and blouse to match the print.

Landau, scoring the iron, shows a permanently pressed A-line skirt, sleek and flat, with no waistband and a wonderful tobacco color. Machine-wash, machine-dry and there you are. It's also navy or "beard" (a browner brown than tobacco) and straight as well.

seeks to show beneath the blunt sex talk and drizzled-in displays of semi-nudity the emptiness of modern life. Laurence Harvey is again in the lead role. or A-line. If you're wrap-conscious, here's Landau's solid plaid reversible and a whole lot of Madras.

A cotton skirt, like sailcloth has tiny little white flowers against navy, or a pleasing harmony of golds and bronze. Wear it with a matching shell in solid color.

Sheets this spring at Landau's march along the rack in solid ranks. But there are prints, too. We like that one with blue, yellow and red flowers on a wonderful lime green called "String Bean." It's $11.99.

Solid pink or blue cotton for $12.99 has a cable action sweater, if you wish, in a precisely matching color. You may wear a blouse under this sheet on a cool spring evening.

Sutton Hall's stay-pre-homespun suit is a classic, with rounded collar and infinite occasions for use. It also comes with petal scalloped collar, in sand and in that String Bean green.

Another suit is made of something called Kettle Cloth, which is a heavy chambray cotton. We found it in skirts, jumpers and shirtwaist dresses in a wealth of colors. Look at the tomato red dress.

Sutton Hall's A-line skirt has a pocket and a swath of colors including plum, apricot

A POSE FOR A TOPKNOT
Color! Color! Color! Look down on the Bamberger's hat bar from the escalator and you'll swear you're at the Flower Show.

Late with flowers on every square inch of land are the rule this spring. Roses, fuchsia, four-o'clocks cover the farms of cloches, half-domes, sailers. Some have tall trunks where are shallow but all are flowers, flowers, flowers.

A cotton candy hat is made of folds of pale pink tulle with butterflies trapped in the net. It's pink, or yellow or white. An ether fluffy one is yellow, so finely made of fine net that at a distance, it looks like soft anemora fur.

Girls who stand for no nonsense will buy the black and white houndstooth check, made into a deep cloche. We were looking at a navy straw with a single very small navy flower on the side when a Bamberger customer, looking at the same hat, said "Too fuzzy."

She might be content with navy saucer-sailor, the one that looks as though little-girl steamers should be floating down the back. Or the minute lune satin hat with a veil — that's all the hat is, just bird and veil.

Prices for these Easter blooms hover around $10, give or take a dollar or two on each side. We're buying that white triangle head scarf covered, point to point, with white wire ruffles.

OTHER PAPERS will run your clearest ads for half-price, or free of charge, if they don't sell in TOWN TOPICS, you'll find more ads, and better results.

Topics Of The Town

 For a while they hung eagerly on the possibility of a new high school. This never materialized due to the logistics of moving equipment in and out of the only space available.

Also this week, members of the Lions Club arranged to tour youth centers in the area with R. Donald Barry, director of the Borough-Township Recreation Department. They will see the centers in action. Mr. Barry reports, but the Lions will talk with the adult leaders.

Plans for three information nights for parents of high school age students were allowed this week by a three-school committee chaired by Mrs. H. A. Leverenz, president of the local PTA. Participants will be teachers, doctors, state and local police, social workers, youth workers and pharmacists.

The first session, for parents of 9th graders will be held at 8 p.m. on Monday, March 21, at the high school. The sessions are designed to be a follow-up of the PTA newsletter alert of several weeks ago.

THOSE POOL FEES

Discussed in Township. "I don't like unhappy about it," commented Township Committeeman William L. Wilson Monday night on the swimming pool fee schedule. Miss Helen Fairbanks, 70 Valley Road, asked that Committee thought of the pool rates. Attorney Gordon Griffin told her that Committee had no legal say in the matter, but each of the five Committeemen volunteered his opinion anyway.

Walter B. Foster, "The Recreation Board made a thorough study of the matter. These rates are lower than other communities, if anything. After all, the swimming pool is a luxury, and its operating costs certainly ought to be met by fees."

Russell Mount, "I think the daily rate is high. I feel sure the Recreation Board will reconsider the matter."

Hurlon Perkins: "The Recreation Board will certainly listen to people and take account what the people want. I think the board has done a fine job."

Mayor Carl C. Schaefer: "I approve what the Recreation Board has decided."

Mr. Wilson: "I am unhappy that prominent swimming pool did use as one of their arguments the fact that the pool could be self-supporting."

Engineer Frank Quinby said that the pool schedule was lagging, that bids would be accepted on March 16 and that he hoped for a pool opening by July 1.

Sewers Again. Echoes of an old trouble sounded in Township Hall Monday night when residents of the Hillside Avenue area came to talk with Committee about $95,573.04 in assessments for the Hillside sewer.

It was almost seven years ago that the Hillside sewer situation quagmire literally overflowed, to become one of the Township's most vexing health problems in the years that followed.

Albert J. Cervera, 5 Hillside, who had been in the vanguard of those urging Township action on a sewer for the area, was in the audience Monday night.

"Our water is still polluted up there," he told Committee residents have had to pay for water for some time "and I don't think I should have to pay an assessment for the sewer until my water is pure."

Allowance Made. Mr. Cervera also protested that he and other property-owners were paying for two sewer lines and for a deeper sewer and bigger pipe.

Sackelching State Road, Hillside and the sewer lines on the blackboard, Mr. Quinby explained that the Township had saved money by running the second sewer line behind the properties on the east side of Route 206 instead of along the highway itself, and that this east-side sewer line didn't affect Mr. Cervera's assessment anyway.

Mr. Quinby and the assessors also said that the Township had deducted $143 per foot from each assessment so that home-owners wouldn't have to bear the cost of laying a 12-inch pipe, instead of an eight-inch one, and of burying the one or eight feet instead of six.

All property owners along the entire 3,600 feet of sewer were given the $143 benefit. Mr. Quinby said he thought anybody has mentioned the fact that the Township is paying about 25% of the cost of this sewer," observed Committeeman Foster.

Committee passed the assessment unanimously, but Mayor Schaefer said, "I have some reservations."

The Sun Ray Drug Company is in the throes of bankruptcy and its store in the shopping center, over the Township $1,185.73 (plus interest) for 1963 taxes and $592.96 for the first half of 1960.

Committee agreed to accept the fact that the Township will get 32 1/2% of this sum, 3 1/2% every six months starting in July.

Four For History. Four Township residents were named to the Joint Borough-Township Historic Sites Committee. They are Mrs. Gordon Knox, Mrs. Robert Greiff, Mrs. Gordon Griffin and B. L. Gulick. Their Borough counterparts are Mrs. Felton L. Gibbons, Bruce H. French, Wesley F. Crave and Richard J. Chortian.

In a tentative, "let's see" gesture, Committee named two Township representatives to Mercer County's Community Action program. The full slate would be 11 appointees, but we and the Borough have agreed to name just two at first, and let them explore and report back to us.

The Township's appointees are Rev. Arthur Byers Jr. of Princeton Theological Seminary and Leonard F. Newlon, from the Borough, Mrs. Edward Earle and the Rev. Edward Smith of the First Baptist Church.

Mayor Schaefer also announced the resignation of Lester V. Chandler from the Planning Board and said that no one had yet been chosen to replace him.

FORCE WOMAN FROM CAR. Two Youths Sought. A 38-year-old Township woman was forced from her car by two youths one night last week on the Princeton-Roseland Road. She was not injured.

Police are searching for the pair, who escaped on a 80-mile-an-hour chase by a Borough patrol car. The Lawrence Township police, alerted by the Princeton police, also searched without success for the speeding car, which later was found abandoned in Trenton. It had been stolen from Palmer Square lot.

The woman told police she had noticed a car following her as she was driving home from work about 10 in the evening. She added that she was forced to stop in the middle at the highway when it drove in front of her near the intersection of Dicks Lane.

Two youths got out, the continued, and one of them attempted to steer her car to the side of the road by grabbing the wheel. In the process, he broke the horn rim.

As the second youth tried to enter her car from the passenger side, the woman forced her way out of the other door and started to scream. At this, the youths fled.

The woman's name is being withheld by TOWN TOPICS in line with normal police in such incidents.

1-95 HEARING PLANNED

Meeting Set for Monday.
Close on the heels of a letter to Governor Richard J. Hughes by both New Jersey senators and the two application Congressmen, the Delaware River Port Authority is planning for 1-95 will begin at a meeting Monday night.

It will begin at 8 in Community Park School and will feature the participation of the Melliar Alignment for 1-95 supported by Princeton Township Committee and Planning Board, Borough Council and Planning Board, Council and Planning Board.

In their letter to Governor Hughes, Senators Clifford P. Case and Harrison A. Williams Jr. and Congressmen Frank Thompson Jr. and Peter H. B. Wofford, as well as the material support for the Melliar alignment.

"Mr. Melliar's concept," says the letter, "might best be described as... giving approval to the full range of factors which together comprise social value... has elicited keen interest from Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and the Administrator of the Bureau of Public Roads."

"We suggest that the time

MCCALLISTER VS. THE STATE

The car, parked between "Morven" and Borough Hall on State, belong to Edward W. McCallister, retired Navy lieutenant, owns six million claim against the state will be heard next month. Mr. McCallister's charges of corrupt state of divorce proceedings against his wife five years ago, he has appeared in court 97 times and has toured the state with his car and his "Times" Chief Justice Weintraub's sign. He has also picked the White House. Efforts to see Governor Richard J. Hughes have so far been unsuccessful. Mr. McCallister says, One of the governor's daughters abused him on Monday as he stood by his car, and collected the handbills he distributes, but the did not reveal her identity.

has come when we must give greater weight to our highway planning to those factors which are not necessarily measured by the slide rule," the letter adds.

In an accompanying chart, the Senators and Congressmen report that the alignment favored by Senator Case and it agrees with the Melliar alignment in that area would bring in $500 million in industrial development potential, as opposed to $300 million in the state's northern route and only $13 million in the state's southern route.

The State Highway Department has said it would set a public hearing in 1-95 two months after receiving comments from all the municipalities. It is concerned. The deadline for comments was March 1; however, Montgomery asked for more time to study the proposals. They have asked for a deadline of next Thursday, March 17.

OVER THE TOP

Hospital Fund Exceeds Goal. With gifts still coming in, it is estimated that the $95,000 special building fund drive of the Princeton Hospital has exceeded by some $15,000. Gifts ranging from $1 to $50,000 came from donors in nearly 30 surrounding communities.

The building contract for construction of the $2,470,400 addition was signed Wednesday by officials of the hospital and Fred J. Brotherton, Inc. of Hackensack, the low bidder. Completion of the two-and-one-half story "J" building as the addition is called is expected by early 1968. It will include enlarged and modernized x-ray and laboratory departments, chapel facilities and 42 additional beds.

A marathon radio broadcast on WTVF Friday evening and Saturday brought in more than $20,000 from some 230 individuals. George Conover, president of the hospital's surplus funds would be applied toward the $145,000 mortgage arranged in the financing.

The largest single gift in the drive last counting is an anonymous $250,000 "challenge gift" was an additional $50,000 from Mrs. Edgar Palmer, 1 Bayard Lane, who had earlier pledged the same amount.

A $15 check from a former Princeton resident arrived from Frankfurt, Germany; the RCA-RED Employees Combined Charities Fund contributed $3,000; the Plumbers & Steamfitters Union Local No. 380 added $1,000; The Carpenter's Local Union No. 781 gave $500 and the Ladies Auxiliary of Hook & Ladder No. 1, 100. Other gifts from groups and business firms were $2,000 from the Hightstown Branch of the First Trenton National Bank; $15,000 from the Soroptimist Club of Princeton; and an additional $1,000 from the Princeton Inn. The medical and dental staff of the hospital exceeded its pledge of $20,000.

MODERN CARPETING
Brand Names

If you buy brand names from a reputable dealer, prices will be a good clue to carpet quality.

You can save by using lower cost yardings, either looped or cut pile carpeting in bedrooms and other lightly trafficked areas. Then you can afford a few dollars more a yard if you want the best quality velvet for a much-used hall or living room. It will give you high, closely packed tufts to stand the extra wear.

At E. B. Mardian & Son, with our many years experience in carrying rugs, we feel qualified to assist and advise you in the selection of rugs and carpets for your home. We have the facilities to handle any carpet job, room-size or wall-to-wall.

Another was the providing of several scholarships. The concept of interested service agencies sponsoring scholarships which would serve as an avenue for tackling the problem of illiteracy in the community was a program, the report said that deserves to be expanded.

Another first for the Adult School was its sponsorship of a series held Friday evenings at McClister Theatre. A recommendation by a finance study committee calling for a slight increase in student fees and a substantial increase in the honoraria paid to teachers was approved by the board.

Mrs. Dulle ended her report with two recommendations. Because of the continued increase in attendance, the curriculum should be divided between two evenings a week. This would enable some to take two-hour courses and attend the lectures and reduce the parking congestion.

Second, she feels that the adult school should offer a high school equivalency program. It would be intended for those who wish to complete the requirements for a high school diploma through their work in evening classes.

DETROIT AHEAD
Western Way Closed. Construction will start next week on the new math-physics building for Princeton University, and Western Way will be closed during construction from its intersection with Washington Road to its intersection with Roper Lane and the road just west of Palmer Stadium.

Ivy Lane, which parallels Western Way on the north, and Faculty Road on the south, will provide alternate routes (see map).

The two new buildings will join Preston Hall, the structure now being built for geology, physical sciences near Palmer Stadium, in forming a science

FOLLOW THE ARROWS: Construction of the University's new math-physics complex will mean a detour for motorists who use Western Way. Alternate routes for Western Way are indicated by the heavy black arrows. When construction is completed, the present service road west of Palmer Stadium will be improved as an extension of Western to Washington Road.

complex will be the controversial 15-story math tower.

NARROWLY MISSES DEATH
From 15,000-Volt Shock. A University freshman, Jon Lindjord, 19, of McLean, Va., was narrowly electrocuted at 6:40 Sunday morning when he and three classmates attempted to climb atop the roof of the "Dinky" the shuttle train between Princeton and Princeton Junction.

As Mr. Lindjord touched the diamond-shaped mechanism which serves as the contact for overhead wires, he was thrown to the tracks by a 13,000-volt charge. He was taken to Princeton Hospital and placed in its intensive care unit for a concussion, fractured left arm and electrical burns. His condition was later reported to be satisfactory.

Also during Junior Prom weekend, Borough Patrol reported they had questioned a maid at the Dial Lodge on Prospect Avenue about the theft of three young ladies' purses from the club. A Mount Holyoke coed reported the theft of her purse containing $85 to $95 from a classroom at the Cottage Club.

After being released from Tiger Inn, a group of four high school boys tried to "crash" again but were repulsed once more. To show their displeasure, the youths broke nine panes of glass in a pair of French Doors.

They were pursued by members of the club who apprehended one of the fleeing youths and turned him over to police. At headquarters, the youth gave police the names of his companions but all denied later having broken any windows.

The club declined to sign a complaint, police said. Chief Peter J. McCrobb said the incident is still under investigation.

A Williams Junior, Robert C. Williams, 20, of Birmingham, Michigan, ran into a parked car on Prospect Avenue, Sunday morning, 2 near Rutherford Road. He was issued a summons by Sgt. Michael Carverole, for careless driving.

Two passengers in the front seat were taken to Princeton Hospital. Susan Sassman, 18, of Harrison Street, required severe sutures for a laceration in her right leg, and Candis Rifor, 17, of Morrisville, Pa., received lacerations of the forehead and both knees.

According to police, Mr. Williams hit a parked car belonging to Washington D. C., pushing it 14 feet forward and tearing off its rear fender. The car then spun and jumped the curb and traveled some 75 feet before coming to rest against a tree. Williams was given a re-orientation test at the hospital by the police.

OFFICERS ELECTED
By Officers Association
The board of trustees of the Princeton Memorial Association has re-elected Mrs. LeRoy Gemmell of Hopewell Township as President, and Prof. Carroll C. Pratt of Pennington as treasurer. Mrs. Robert Novin was elected secretary.

New members on the board are Dean Ernest Gordon of Princeton University, Pastor Luther Kriebel of the Messiah Lutheran Church, Mrs. Stanley Kerr, Mrs. Thomas Sliks of Princeton, and Mrs. Peggy Cole of Pennington.

The Memorial Association is a non-profit organization founded in 1956 to give information and advice to people wishing to restore simplicity and a spiritual atmosphere to observances of death. The organization numbers almost 600.

NEW OFFICERS NAMED
By PAIRH. New officers for the coming year have been named by the Princeton Association of Hung Rights.
They are John Counts, president; Seymour Alpert, first vice-president; Mrs. Elizabeth Chandler, 2d vice-president; Mrs. Frankie Hines, secretary; and George Greer, treasurer. Mrs. Estelle Johnson, Harold Logan and the Rev. Harold Thomas were elected to the executive committee.

More Counts, a librarian in the Township school system, praised the accomplishments of the outgoing officers, in his acceptance speech, but added there was still a long way to go. He singled out housing, employment and education as areas in urgent need of improvement.

"PAIRH must continue to initiate, promote and support any action which will make this the kind of community in which people at all levels of our social and economic structure can live and contribute," he said. The trend toward planning people out of the community must be reversed.
Treasurer Greer reported that PAIRH had contributed the following in 1965: $1,147 for education and scholarships; $700 to the Princeton Study Center; $554 for the electronics training program at Princeton High School; $500 to the Elizabeth Taylor 3rd Fund; $200 to the Southern Nonviolent Coordinating Committee; and $80 to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

BROTHER SLAYS BROTHER
With Shotgun Blast. An argument between two brothers over one's driving ability ended in one killing the other with a shotgun early Saturday morning.

Police said that Herman L. Broadway, 32, 12 Birch Avenue, died instantly when his younger brother, Ervin, 28, 37 Phillips Avenue, Lawrenceville, fired a shotgun blast into his head from a few feet away. Ervin was arrested before Lawrence Township Magistrate Edmund Z. Polsky Saturday afternoon and held for action by a Mercer County grand jury. He is a carpenter for an Ewing Township contractor.

According to the police, the two brothers had met Friday evening visiting Trenton taverns. Herman offered to give his younger brother a ride home and an argument developed on the way over his driving.

He continued into the kitchen of Ervin's home on Phillips Avenue, where the two had stopped for a final drink. As Herman, an unemployed construction worker, left the kitchen and started to enter his car, he was cut down by a shotgun blast.

After the shooting, Ervin called police. Police Captain Nicholas Loveless said that the shotgun had been kept in a bedroom closet.

One of three sisters to the family was quoted as saying that the two "never argued more than any brothers and usually got along quite well together. They were always piling around."

Services Wednesday, Services for Mr. Broadway were held

Wednesday in the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Edward Smith officiating. Burial was in the Princeton Cemetery.
He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Josie Broadway; seven brothers, John R. Herbert, James W. and John all of Princeton; Romus of Lee Angeles and Ervin of Lawrenceville; three sisters, Mrs. Leonard C. Boone and Miss Frances Broadway of Princeton and Mrs. Zaron W. Barnett of Hamilton Township.

CITIZENS REPORT TO BOROUGH SCHOOLS STUDY
The Citizens' Committee, appointed in December by the Borough Board of Education to study the future of Borough schools, will present its report to the board at a special public meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the social room of Princeton High School.
A second meeting will be called at an early date for public discussion of the report, copies of which will be available at Monday's meeting.
The committee, co-chaired by Mrs. Arthur F. Wagner and Bryan V. Moore, includes Mrs. Paul Ashton, Dr. Alfred S. Cook, Mrs. J. Stuart Hunter, Sheldon Judson, John B. Redding Jr. and Mrs. Orren J. Turner.

Consultants who met with the committee and the Board of Education included State Commissioner of Education Frederick M. Raubinger, Mercer

County Schools Superintendent Jack B. Twichell, Melvin Krepps, superintendent of Hightstown schools, and Dr. Harvey Shue, Gloucester County superintendent and consultant to the State Federation of Regionalization. Also, Alden Dunham, director of admissions at Princeton University and former member of Dr. James B. Conant's study of the state of the secondary schools; Dr. John Kinney, superintendent of Haddon-Fair Haven Regional School; Commissioner Edward W. Kilpatrick of the business and finance department of the State Department; Thomas P. Cash, counselor to the State Federation of School Boards; and William Miller, attorney for the Borough Board of Education.

day on a federal charge of avoiding prosecution in connection with a murder. At the time he was taken into custody, he was working as a busboy in a Princeton hotel, using the name of Paul Shes.

The New Jersey office of the FBI reports that Wise was indicted last month in Suffolk County, Mass., in connection with the holdup of a liquor store, in which the owner was slain and killed three alleged accomplices are already in custody, but a warrant was issued for Wise's arrest charged that he left Massachusetts unlawfully following the crime.

CEREMONIES PLANNED
For Einstein Stamp Issue. Ceremonies marking the issue of a new eight-cent stamp honoring Albert Einstein will be held in Princeton University's Alexander Hall Monday at 11 a.m. The Institute for Advanced Study, where the late physicist died, is sponsoring the stamp sale, in connection with the American Institute of Physics.

Dr. John A. Wheeler, professor of physics at Princeton and president of the American Physical Society, will serve as chairman of the ceremonies. Edward K. Harrison will deliver the principal address. Other speakers include Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer and Congressman Frank Thompson Jr.

Mr. Harrison is a federal engineer who has worked on the satellite program. He is currently the director of the Office of Research and Engineering of the Post Office Department.

Dr. Oppenheimer is the director of the Institute for Advanced Study. He and Dr.

The American Wheeler also played major roles in major developments in nuclear and theoretical physics.

Congressman Thompson, New Jersey's fourth district representative, served for many years in the New Jersey legislature before going to Washington. He is on the Committee on Education and Labor and the House Administration Committee.

The Einstein stamp is one of coupled by the new post office issues known as the "Prominent American Series." It was designed by Frank Sebastiano.

ZONERS GRANT REQUEST
Of "U. Store" To Expand. The Princeton University Store has been granted its request that it be allowed to expand its textbook, athletic equipment and music department into space formerly occupied by the Daily Princetonian. With two of its members abstaining because of their association with the United Zoning Board vote.

ed. to grant the increased space would total 3,000 square feet, representatives of the University said the store anticipated no increase in sales throughout the hearing for modification of the original special permit. The Board's new attorney, Lowell F. Curran Jr., questioned at length the store's non-profit status and its compliance with off-street parking requirements.

FIRMS MERGE
Tosy and CBS Creative Playthings Inc. and CBS have signed a letter of intent announcing their plan to merge. According to the announcement made by Edward Leach, president of CBS, and president of Columbia Records, the new company, president of Creative Playthings, 42 of a share of CBS Toys Inc. and CBS Creative Playthings stock. The transaction includes acquisition of The Learning Center, a wholly owned subsidiary of Creative Playthings.

Founded in 1950 by Mr. Caplan and Bernard Baranoff, Creative Playthings designs and manufactures toys for nursery schools and kindergartens. Since then, the firm has offered its products to the public through catalogues and retail outlets. More than 1,500 items are now available.

The headquarters of Creative Playthings is near Hightstown along Old Trenton Road from the RCA Astro-Electronics Division. Manufacturing is located at Herndon, Pennsylvania.

"Columbia Records has always been keenly interested in the field of education," said Mr. Lieberman. "In this new association with Creative Playthings, we believe we can work together to develop innovative educational developments to which we will draw on the experience and know-how of CBS in various communication techniques."

Mr. Caplan said that "Creative Playthings will continue its research and development of play and learning materials for young children in the school and in the home."

MOVES, AT "WE"
Rocky Hill Men Involved Western Electric's Engineering and Research Center in Hopewell has announced two personnel shifts involving employees who are residents of Rocky Hill.

Ronald Tevoni has been named to the post of Assistant Director of Applied Mathematics and Control Systems. He has previously headed a research group.

In his new work he will supervise research in utilizing computers and computer systems. He came to Western Electric as a student employee in the summer of 1955, returning to the company in 1956 after graduation from Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

Beauty ON THE SQUARE

I don't think there's a woman alive who doesn't want to do something about her hair. Stripped if it's curly wave it if it's straight — lighten it if it's dark — go brunette if it's light! Teasener to Gramma, all women are concerned about their hair. This should be so, for your hair is your most prominent facial feature. Unfortunately, nature is hardly ever kind to our hair. The jowly, glowing color of youth starts to dull — then fades — disappears into gray. FORTUNATELY, hair coloring science has stepped in to fill nature's deficiencies.

Whether you want to cover gray hair with natural looking color, or give it a new, radiant gray — or add glossier color tone to your lightened hair — give lustrous new color to dull, faded hair — or change your natural color to another that pleases you more — have it done by our skilled, highly trained operators at TAYVENWOOD BEAUTY MANOR.

Frequently the difference between a plain looking woman and a pretty one is the color of her hair. Come to the TAYVENWOOD BEAUTY MANOR, 69 Palmer Square West, or call 924-3023.

Dr. Robert L. Lafacheur has been appointed superintendent of development and manufacturing engineering at Reading, Pa. where Western Electric manufactures electronic components for the Bell Telephone System.

Dr. Lafacheur is a former Research Council member for Rocky Hill and is now chairman of the Rocky Hill Planning Committee. A native of Canada, he was educated there and received his Ph.D. in physics at the University of Virginia.

REED NAMED ADVISOR
To Insurance Firm. Theodore S. Reed, president and treasurer of The Gullick Agency, 350 Nassau, has been appointed to the Agents' Advisory Council of the Excelsior Insurance Company of New York.

Mr. Reed will serve with about 30 other insurance agents from 15 states in an advisory relationship with the managers of the company.

Excelsior is a native of Canada, he was educated there and received his Ph.D. in physics at the University of Virginia.

JOINS REALTY FIRM
Howe Adds to Staff. Mrs. Marjorie Enninger has joined the real estate department of Walter B. Howe Inc., One Palmer Square.

Mrs. Enninger has been selling real estate in the Princeton area since 1958. She was formerly associated with another Princeton firm.

CAMPUS IS CREATED
By Princeton Architect Robert W. Engelbrecht, 40-year-old Princeton architect, has created an entirely new campus for Goddard College in Plainfield, Vt., one of two small, separate campuses the school will build. It is part of a 10-year expansion program begun by Goddard which was founded in 1933 as a private liberal arts college.

Robert W. Engelbrecht and Associates of New York and Rocky Hill planned, designed and furnished the new campus known as the Woodward campus, a completely autonomous community for 300 students. The first two dormitories were completed last week, the entire campus will be finished next fall, only two years from the acquisition of land. The dormitories were constructed for the low cost of approximately $12 per square foot.

A 1948 graduate of Cornell, Mr. Engelbrecht, who designed the Home Manufacturers Association House of the Year in 1964, heads a firm that also uses industrial designing. He has designed elementary schools, hotels, motels and a variety of homes.

He and his associates have done extensive research in the design and fabrication of building components called "space modules." These concepts were introduced in the design of the Princeton University 21 Research House, which he designed for the Seattle World Fair.

EARNINGS GO UP
For Applied Research. Net earnings of $15.42 per share, an increase of 31% over last year, have been announced by Princeton Applied Research Corporation.

Compared to 1964, the increase in net earnings is 60%, according to the annual report presented Saturday at the firm's annual meeting.

At the annual meeting, Princeton Applied Research elected two new directors — Charles Townson Jr. and Orest C. Chaykovsky. They will serve with Dr. Thomas Coar, Robert H. Dicke, Leighston H. Laughlin and E. W.

Lehmann, who have been directors since the company was formed in 1961.

Mr. Chaykovsky has also been appointed vice-president of marketing and sales. Gary B. Hammond has been named assistant secretary.

The company has recently purchased the property in Montgomery Township formerly occupied by Hercules Powder on Route 510 near Route 206. The move from the corporation's headquarters at Princeton Junction will give fourfold increase in available area.

COMPLETES SEMINAR
At Water Conditioning Institute. A. Stritch, sales manager for the Culligan-Nassau Water Conditioning Co., has completed a seminar in water conditioning and management at the Culligan Water Institute, Northbrook, Ill.

The seminar was given to inform managers of the latest techniques and information on water softening, taste and odor control and iron removal. Participants also studied water conditioning equipment and management techniques.

You'd think a local, progressive company would send an office electric typewriter that costs no more than a manual. A local, progressive company does —

Dynamic office equipment
2529 Nottingham Way, Trenton, N. J. 586-6601

The Smith-Corona 250* is an office electric, but the price is just $250. That's what you'd pay for a fine manual — yet just as bulky. Large company — need electric typing every day and the New York, N.Y. based Smith-Corona 250* is a "big company" typewriter. Letters and notes written faster on a Smith-Corona 250* but also have that unmistakable look and feel of a good machine with other businessmen.

Of course, the Smith-Corona 250 has a big brother — the Smith-Corona 410* which is, without doubt, the finest office electric typewriter made. All the deluxe features — push-button control, "Carriage" impression control, push-button, automatic paper insertion.

* Trade Mark

Ask your secretary how important these progressive features are for fast, top precision work.

And, just to make sure that we can give you the right one for any typing job, Smith-Corona has a fully equipped manual typewriter — the Speed-Master 75* that gives automatic to standard typing. Speed-Master 75* repeats — speeds up to 30 words per minute faster than an electric typewriter.

We require SCM should make products to meet precisely every requirement, whether your work is large or small, your budget tight or loose. And Smith-Corona typewriters are no exception to the rule — they're one for everybody.

FUND PRESENTS AWARDS:
At its annual meeting Monday, the Princeton United Community Fund presented the Gerard H. Lambert Award for outstanding service to the Princeton community to Robert P. Popino, last year's Fund president.
The Council of Community Services Award was presented to Katherine M. Lyons.
The Lambert award was given to Mr. Popino for his work in several areas of community activities. Beside serving as Fund president, he has been president of the Chamber of Commerce and is currently president of the Rotary Club and a member of the West Windsor Board of Health.

Mrs. Lyons, a native Princetonian, is a retired school teacher. She was active on the council 20 years and has served as its president. She has also been active in the Adult School and has been a trustee of the Fund.
Bernard Ehrenhalt was a elected president of the Fund for 1966 at the meeting. Mrs. Richard Schoch will serve as administration vice-president, and Arthur N. Carlin will be executive vice-president.

SPEEDERS LOSE LICENSES:
In Township Court, Two Princeton area drivers, each had their license suspended for 30 days last week for speeding by Township Magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr. In addition, Frederick J. Rutter, 27, of Pelham, was fined $25, and Theresa Pranzillo, 30, 292 hard Street, Pennington, 19, George J. Lemmon Jr., 21, Washington Street, Rock Hill, paid two fines $15 for throwing firecrackers from a car, and $10 for a late inspection violation. Paying fines of $15 for careless driving were C. Nicholas Bush, 18, 60 Lafayette Road, and Pierre J. Lamerzon, 34, Bedans Brook Road, Blawieburg.

Michael Negron, 20, New York City, forfeited a $100 bail bond when he failed to appear to answer charges of careless driving, driving without a license and no registration. Mr. Negron also did not appear in Borough court Monday where he had been scheduled to answer a charge of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.
In Borough Court, Daniel K. Herrick, 45, 487 Stockton Road, was fined $15 by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. for passing in a no-passing zone. Mr. Herrick, 24, 268 Irving Street, paid $10 for driving his motorcycle on the wrong side of a middle white line.

GARDEN CLUB TO MEET:
To Hear Talk, The Lawrence Garden Club will meet Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the home of John Fowler, Princeton Pike.

Mrs. David McAlpin will talk to the club on "Gardens of Scotland and Ireland." Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. H. Kramer, Mrs. Joseph E. Hensler and Mrs. Sydney S. Souler.

POOL FEES DEBATED: The announced fees for the Community Park swimming pool has Princeton Innkeeper Robert W. Sampson, 89 Westery Road, housewife: Oh, I just think it is too high for the children. This whole thing was done mainly for them, I say. Forty-dollars is a lot when they don't care about the adults. Let them leap into a marital pool, if they're too hot.

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think the fees that have been set for the Community Park swimming pool are too high? $40 — family membership $1.50 daily ($2 weekends) $1 daily children under 12 ($1.50 weekends)

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Mrs. Felicia Letman, 13 MacLean Street, housewife: Yes, I think it's too much. I think a fairer fee would be 25 cents a day. When you consider that maybe only one or two persons in a family would use the pool, and $1 a day for children, it's ridiculous! How many kids have that kind of money? A community swimming pool is something Princeton has needed for a very long time and I think it will help solve some of the problems beginning to occur around here, but it is a community project — it shouldn't be profitable business.

F. B. Warren, 215 Nassau Street, retired from hardware business: No, I don't think that's too much. I think they're fair. Everybody wants something for nothing nowadays.

Miss Priscilla Hayward, Penna Neck, graduate student, educational psychology: I don't think they're high in relation to other towns but they still came as a surprise because I feel people thought of this more as a free venture. I'd say a daily fee of 50 cents would be fairer.

Mrs. Thomas Stix, 16 Deer Path, housewife: I think the daily rate is much too high, but the intention is obviously just to have family memberships and that this would exclude anyone who couldn't afford a family rate. The two-hour free period in the morning is during the coolest part of the day and would leave the children with nothing else to do the rest of the hot afternoon. I would say a 25-cent fee for children would be in line and then if they want to continue the $40 rate would be all right, too.

Mrs. Gordon Hubel, 50 State Road, housewife: I think they're much too high. I object. I think the people who need it most would not be able to use it — and I feel the same way about the Y. I think a fee of 25 cents a day would be a fairer price. I'm really shocked! This is blatant manipulation. I don't think they realize how few will be able to afford these rates and it will be right in a spot where these rates need it most will just be able to stare at it. It's ridiculous!

Mrs. G. J. Christensen, Heat-cote Village, Road 27, clerk at Bellows: No, I think that's fair. Very, very good. I think anybody with a family ought to be able to afford that.

Miss Maureen O'Hara, Long Island, housewife: I don't think they're really that high. People around here have the money and I don't see why they can't spend it. In other places, you spend more — that I know. On Long Island, for example, if you want to go to the beach it costs $2 plus the cost of parking. It adds up in a hurry. Even for public pools you pay a lot of money. It's ridiculous not to want to spend $1.50 a day. Forty-dollars for the whole family? That's cheap.

Mrs. Robert W. Sampson, 89 Westery Road, housewife: Oh, I just think it is too high for the children. This whole thing was done mainly for them, I say. Forty-dollars is a lot when they don't care about the adults. Let them leap into a marital pool, if they're too hot.

Mrs. Sheila D'Alri, Princeton Junction, mother and graduate student, Greek Classics: I think they're respectable. We've been going to a place in Hopewell Township called The Quarry which is very nice but it is an effort to get there. This would be more convenient and as I said I think the prices are respectable. We'd be willing to pay.

Jan Zinkowski, 57 College Road W., 4th grade, Nassau Street School: I think that's a little expensive. I think it should be no more than 75 cents.

Keith Rendall, 69 Alexander Street, 5th grade, Nassau Street: Yes, I think it's a little too high. I'd rather see it at 75 cents a day.

Sally Rechin, 32 Hornor Lane, PHIS freshman: Yes, I think these are too high. You'd get a lot more to come if you charged less. A lot of people won't pay for family memberships. Mostly just the kids would go and it wouldn't pay to spend $40. Some families can't afford the $40 anyway. I think it should be 50 to 75 cents a day.

Mary Jones, Dods Lane, PHIS freshman: I think it's too high. If you charge less the kids would come more often and you could make it up that way. I think 50 or 75 cents would be fairer.

Jonathan Heston, 33 Philip Drive, 6th grade Community Park School: I think it's a bit steep because I'll be going there a lot. I think they'll draw enough, especially on hot days, that they won't have to charge this much. I think 50 cents a day would be plenty.

Patrick O'Shea, 704 Rosedale Road, 6th grade, St. Paul's: No, I don't think these are too high. I think I could pay $41 a day.

Julie Mazzarella, 121 Magnolia Lane, PHIS junior: I don't think it is too high for a family membership but I do think it's too high for daily fees. I think something like 50 to 75 cents should be in the range for the children.

Andrew Van Kirk, Cranbury Road, PHIS junior: I feel they're too high. I think most kids will have a hard time paying them. I'd like to see a daily fee of 50 cents.

Do Something!

The word "apathy" has been recently used to describe Princeton's current attitude towards the routing of I-95 by the Highway Department. We don't believe for a moment that the public is apathetic.

Rather, we find that either people are unaware of the full implications of the proposed routes, or they don't think they can do anything about the situation. Next Monday night, March 14, at Community Park School, at 8 p.m., Princeton will have a public opportunity to know all and do something!

Paul VanWegen, President of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association will, at that time, present to the public the so-called "McIlgar Report." This fascinating study, which has been endorsed by both Princeton governments, backed by many area citizens' groups and elicited interest from Mrs. Lindon Johnson, has been strongly recommended to Governor Hughes for his consideration by Senators Case and Williams and Representatives Thompson and Frelinghuysen (an impressive bipartisan alignment!).

It is highly urgent that the Governor become aware of the necessity for considering the McIlgar conclusions in order that "we, the people" know exactly what we are urging him to support and to show him our numbers. Let's turn out in force for this meeting. Let us also inform our Congressmen that we are behind their request for the Governor to interest himself in McIlgar's proposal! It's still possible for the lovely Millstone Valley and, coincidentally,

Princeton, to be spared.

MILDER C. LIGHT
(Cherry Valley Road)

W. Windsor Serko a Voice.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The following letter has been forwarded to the president of the Boards of Education of Princeton and Princeton Township and Princeton Borough Boards of Education regarding the possible reorganization of school districts.

The West Windsor Township, which has been a sending district to the Princeton High School since 1902, and which now pays approximately $230,000 annually in tuition for high school is faced with the necessity of planning for its high school students. Our current agreement with Princeton High School expires in 1970. We must, therefore, adopt a plan of action soon if we are to have a proper high school program for our Township after this date.

"The confused status of the Princeton High School has made it difficult for us to decide what plan we should adopt, for inevitably the decisions made in Princeton will affect our community. We urge the needs of West Windsor Township be carefully consulted as you draw up your plans for the future, and we also urge that we be consulted about the programs you are contemplating.

We appreciate the opportunities we have had in the past to meet with the Boards of Education of the Township and Borough, and look forward to a continuing close working relationship.

W. Bradford Craig, President
West Windsor Township

Tribute to "The Tomb."

To the Editor of Town Topics: I would like to say "Thank Heaven" for the "Next Door" more aptly known as the "Tomb" at the Third Presbyterian Church. This is the first step in the right direction and the greatest thing to happen to Princeton in years!

All I can say is the group who started it should take their petition and move on to the next church. (The group was not from this church.) These kids need exactly what they've got, it all their own, and it's there when they want and need it.

They built this teenage haven themselves with sweat and toil and it's all theirs! Let's give them a boost and move them on until every church with a "Tomb" to be used by no one but them. Let them do the work and let them watch it grow, let them jumble them all together, all religions, sizes and shapes. Who knows, if they're playing in church, they may be praying in church and maybe this just might be Princeton's solution to what appears to be "steps in the wrong direction for many of our children."

They don't need a $30,000 building at Community Park away from the hub of the town where they all seem to feed. They need to be, to be used by women's groups and visiting firemen to help pay for the building. This may be one of the teenage problems — we always seem to be giving them something that isn't really their own.

Comments on "The Tomb."

To the Editor of Town Topics: With all the current publicity about teenagers in Princeton, it has been made very clear that they exist and that they have problems—problems of smoking, drinking, boisterous, gambling, petting and occasionally taking drugs. I do not wish to discount these problems, I merely wish to suggest another point of view—from one who works with the teens in question three days a week. I must confess that my western morality, which has been into me through the church I plan to serve with my life, is rather shaken when I first confronted young teens smoking-out in the open. I was a little more shocked to have to deal with a tipy teen at a dance last fall.

In fact, I asked the question most parents ask: "Why are the allowing kids to act like that they ought to be stopped. The police should break this up, what's wrong with these kids?" But then I came to know some of them, and it has been a rare privilege.

What is the typical teenager who frequents "The Tomb" St. Andrew's "basement" like? What is behind his "irresponsible behavior"? First, the teen Pales before typified. He is unique and he is demanding his autonomy. He is frank and honest — far more so than my generation of five years ago. Sure, he is rebelling, that is probably the

How To Survive

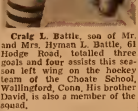

The Better Vision Institute reports that some 92,000,000 drivers pile up over 750 billion driving miles yearly in America.

BVI also reports that probably one quarter to one half of them do not see well enough to drive safely.

It is a fact that one person in 50 over 40 years of age has undetected glaucoma, that you can be virtually blind in one eye and not know it (millions are), and since the ability to judge distances depends on dual vision, this seriously affects driving safety; that after 40 most people become farsighted, but to slowly they often are unaware of it. Play safe and have your eyes tested annually. To be doubly safe, in all ways, see us. Kammler Bulk-Pontiac, Route 206 Princeton, N. J. across from the airport, 921-2222

ART In Princeton

JACOB LANDAU
At Gallery 100, for three weeks only, through March 27th, and by courtesy of the American Artists Gallery of New York, Gallery 100 is showing prints by Jacob Landau, who lives in Roosevelt, New Jersey and instructs at the Pratt Institute in New York. Needs no introduction to Princeton. His work has long been familiar to us and among his prints hung now at Gallery 100 we find several old friends, namely "Abraham Lincoln," "Mark Twain" and "The Wolf."

Whereas the show might be categorized into social commentaries, illustrations and portraits, there is not a single work which does not carry a significant charge of feeling in relation to its subject. The variety of expression always appears to be under enormous pressure and often is so strong as to repel the viewer first off. One needs to take time to read the full implications of the thrust. Nothing ever becomes diluted, but with persual, the artist's idea does come to be more interesting and understandable.

Questions and Answers. The social themes well up with oppression, violence, despair and violence as in "Which Way?" Its slogan could be "Flopping," (reproduced above) which abstractly expresses a decision, a frightening urgency of a wild mob to surge forward.

With no less intensity, Landau produces a startling effect in "Battle" and its related "Status Quo Air." With horses straining at the bit, clanking the axle and trampling the wounded, there is no room for doubt as to the violence intended.

Jared, disturbed and displayed may be by the social commentary. It is never gentle or soothing, most often alarming and highly provocative, rendered with determination to press a point unapologetically.

An example is found in "Palace," the only lithograph show here done by Landau on a Tamarind Lithograph in 1965. It is described as follows in a Tamarind Lithograph: "The rich black ink on the warm tone of the paper carries tactile wishes, rubbing links and erases lines to a full testimony of his theme." We are compelled to decipher that message among the crumbling structures and the fallen men, not a pretty sight.

Easier to live with and fascinating in their characterization of the animal world. In technique they are equally as skillful as Landau's other work.

Eagles, singular and plural, are definitely birds of prey and "Bulls," momentarily quiescent, are potent with possibility. We found "Horses," superimposed one upon another, a marvel of close composition. Our favorite woodcut, "Elephants," is a strong design of tuks and trunks and one sees that the woody quality of this medium is remarkably suited to the rendering of leathery elephant hide. Moreover, the attitudes of the animals are so playful

"HAPPENING: Jacob Landau's powerful print is among those now on view at Gallery 100. Portraits, social commentaries and illustrations by the Roosevelt, N. J. artist will be on display through March 27.

and tender that this is one of the few untroubling and totally enchanting pictures in the show.

Perhaps the finest signals of Landau's forceful approach are the arresting figure of Isiah, stark in its simplicity and overwhelming supplication, and "Dionisi Mitropolis," whose figure in distortion convinces you that in his enormous hands, the maestro holds real music.

LECTURE SERIES PLANNED
By Art Association: The Princeton Art Association is sponsoring a series of three weekly illustrated lectures by staff members of The Metropolitan Museum of the Stuart Country Day School, Sundays at 3, beginning this weekend. The lectures will deal with Botticelli, Goya and Matisse. Margaret Salinger will deliver the first two lectures on Botticelli and Goya. She is a research assistant in the museum's painting department and the author of catalogues and monographs on several European painters.

Beatrice Farwell will give the last lecture on Matisse. She has been a lecturer at the museum since 1945 and is now a senior lecturer. Her writings include a book on "Delacroix" and contributions to various art journals.

Tickets for the series or for individual lectures may be purchased at the door. Further information may be obtained by calling the Art Association between 12:30 and 2:30, 821-0175.

25 ARTISTS ON VIEW
At P.A.A. Show, "Rocks and Vines" by Lou Chen has won first prize at the second annual Juried Members' Show of the Princeton Art Association. First honorable mention has been won by Margaret K. Johnson and her "Dawn Patterns" and second honorable mention by Marie Sturken for "Rocky Hill Quarry."

The show will be on view in McCarty Theater through mid-April. A reception for P.A.A. members and their guests will be held at the theater from 7 to 8:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

Other exhibitors at the show are Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMiller, Mrs. John B. Connor, Mrs. George Ann Gillespie, Mrs. Heidi Heinenmann, Mrs. Ann Graham, Mrs. S. D. Bacon, Mrs. Edith Pleitner, Mrs. Ruth MacPherson, Mrs. Trudy Checkburg, Mrs. Mary S. ON TARGET, BUT NO GOAL: This fine save by Cornell's Earl McKibbin, top goalie in the end, was typical of Saturday's game in Baker Hink. Princeton outshot the Ivy champions, 42 to 37, but visitors won, 7-1. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Bob Matthews)

SPORTS In Princeton

FIRST DIVISION AGAIN

For twice Hockey Team A hockey coach who had never seen his squad together until practice began November 1 brought Princeton from last place to third in his first season here. John "Red" Wilson, one of the National Hockey League's best players, took charge here following the late summer resignation of Norm Wood and guided the Tigers to their first first division finish in Ivy action in the last ten years.

Surprisingly, this was achieved on the basis of a won-lost record no better than 6-12-1. It was possible because Princeton won a few of the big ones — notably, its opener with defending champion Brown; the Alumni Day game with Yale by the near-record score of 10-7; and one of the contests with Harvard, the first Tiger triumph over the Crimson in 12 years. A final factor was Yale's unexpected ability to beat Harvard twice for the first time since 1920, thereby making Princeton's point-total of nine in the league stand up for third place.

Regrettably, the season ended with the trend in the wrong direction, as Brown, Harvard and Cornell all took Princeton's measure. The Crimson recorded a 4-1 triumph at Cambridge last week and Cornell completed its league season with a 9-1 mark by skidding to a one-sided 7-1 decision before an 810 Junior Prom crowd Saturday in Baker Hink. There is, however, a degree of optimism over the future that has not existed here since All-American Hank Rothfield, the Gall Brothers, Derek Prier and others gave the Tigers brief domination of the league early in the last decade. Despite continuing problems, the greatest of which is the ability to keep the grounds on most other college campuses, Princeton hockey is bound to move forward under Wilson's guidance.

Defense the Big Problem. In Baker Hink, the big question in the immediate future is the degree of defensive strength. Princeton's defense developed. Of Cornell's seven goals Saturday, a good five were the result of errors on the part of players assigned to positions inside the blue line.

Eight seniors played their last game Saturday. The forwards include Captain Russ Hall, Mike Peterman, Steve Cook, Mike Spence and Bert Bruser. Defencemen to graduate are Mac McMorris and Sam McWen, while Graeme Flanders, a three-year veteran in the goal, has also ended his hockey career.

Flanders will be the most difficult to replace in fact, much of the fate of the 1966-67 season hinges on what Princeton will have as goalie strength, and that, in turn, revolves around the question of a current freshman's eligibility.

Bobby Groh, a Canadian of established ability, sat out the season just ended because he played Junior A hockey in the Dominion — a recognized procedure for many boys that age and one which results in actual pay for play. It is followed by at least temporary ineligibility on matriculation at an Ivy college, but the rule is by no means invariably permanent.

A case in point is that of Gene Knutson, a one-line Junior A player who sat out part of his career at Harvard but was reinstated following a hearing of his case among the Ivy Group. Hopes are that similar procedure here may make Groh eligible to report for action next fall.

Several payers on the current freshman team — the best since the current crop seniors compiled an 11-2 record under Pete Cook — will fit into the picture next season. Groh's presence appears a requisite to any degree of success, but even if he can play, decrease in weakness will continue to force the Tigers' high-scoring attack will be essential to bail them out on the right side of most games.

Cornell Dynasty Under Way
For the immediate future — and perhaps longer — the Ivy League will play in two divisions: Cornell and the other five colleges. Only three eastern teams were good enough to defeat the Ivy champions — Clarkson, Harvard and the Cornell freshmen. The latter reportedly took care of their riders by something a bit longer — the achievement of no little magnitude with which Doug Ferguson, Red co-captain, scored four goals in leading his team to the 7-1 triumph here last weekend. Only two members of the starting six will graduate, and there is no reason to believe that Cornell dominance of Ivy play will not continue at least through the present decade.

BASKETBALL A PUZZLE
But Tigers Could Win in '87
Although Pennsylvania did not win the 1966 Ivy basketball title until the final game of the season, the Quakers in effect dominated the race during the final month and were the odds-on favorite from the day that Princeton was ousted by Harvard at Cambridge. The Red and Blue senior-dominated quintet, waiting until Bill Bradley finally picked up his diploma, had a two-game margin at the finish and was clearly the best team in the league.

It is difficult to see a team ranking as a clear-cut choice to outrun the others next winter at Princeton did in Bradley's last two seasons and as Penn did last year. Four teams — Columbia, Cornell, Penn and Princeton — appear capable of entering the final month still in contention, with Yale a dark-horse entry on the grounds that it has only one senior on its squad and some good freshmen coming up.

Final Ivy Basketball

	W.	L.	Pct.
Penn	10	4	.657
Columbia	10	4	.714
Cornell	10	4	.714
Princeton	9	5	.643
Harvard	6	8	.429
Yale	6	8	.429
Brown	3	11	.214
Dartmouth	0	14	.000

Losing Stan Pavlak and Jeff Neuman, the only two players to earn all-Ivy status in the same college three years running, Penn is and was unlikely to repeat in a close race. Cornell, too, must replace numerous key members of its starting team, in fact the Red may have missed its best chance for an Ivy title for quite a while when it lost out in a spin with such players as Bob DeLuca, Steve Cram, Bob Berube and Garry Munton. Columbia has two more years of the league's tallest player in Newmark, but whereas a seven-footer of considerable ability would have broken the race wide open a decade ago, seven feet now is only two or three inches above the tallest man on several teams. Penn has a 6-10 sophomore in Tom Mallison, while Princeton has a 6-9 sophomore back and a 6-8 sophomore in Chris Thorne. The Lions may not make it even with Newmark, since a replacement does not appear available for Stan Felsinger, a fine outside shooter who averaged 23 points a game.

Thorne's the Key Here, It may be a case of putting a great deal of pressure on a sophomore, but the fact is apparent that Princeton's success next season will hinge largely around the ability of 18-year-old Chris Thorne to live up to a starting berth in his first year on the varsity. Without improvement in the big man's role, Princeton cannot hope to be measurably better than its 6-5 record in the season just ended.

Thorne's role will come to Coach Butch van Breda Kolff with a record of having improved steadily in his freshman year, with visible evidence that he has two attributes not all fall players have — he can hit from outside and he likes to run. If he has the stamina to go much of the distance in the back-to-back weekend games the Ivy League schedule, his value will increase immensely.

For what it's worth, Thorne wrote two statistics in the freshman record book that Bill Bradley did not match. He averaged 25.5 points a game, compared to 24.8 for Bradley, and he holds the one-game Princeton record for first-year players with 41 points.

Like Yale, Princeton will be lightly hit by graduation, with Captain Bob Hawley and Don Roderbach the only two seniors on the squad. Both had inconsistent seasons in their final year, with Hawley slowed most of the campaign by chronic ankle trouble. His performer in holding Penn's Stan Pavlak, a 24-point per game player, to eight in the final game at the Palestra was indicative of his defensive ability at his peak.

If Thorne makes it, the Tigers' starting lineup may consist of Ed Hummer and John Hawley, both 6-6, as forwards and Joe Heiser and Gary Walters in the back court. With Heiser available for a full season after sitting out the past campaign until January 30 because of a wrist fracture, and Hummer giving evidence of continuing improvement, odds are that the low-scoring games which frequently plagued the Tigers will be in the minority next year.

There remains, of course, the question of what the intangibles, that a first-place team needs will catch up with Princeton again. Constant drive, a visible will to win, the momentum to pull a game away beyond recall once the initiative is gained — all these are qualities that were lacking in Dillon Gorn this season. If the next Gorn basketball team can blend them with its innate playing ability, the Ivy title may return to Princeton.

IVIES AND NCAA SPLIT
Over Eligibility Ruling, Athletes in every winter sport at virtually every Ivy League college saw their seasons end prematurely last week as the climax to the drawn-out controversy over a National Collegiate Athletic Association ruling on eligibility.

Forced to the sidelines because their elders could not agree were basketball players from Pennsylvania, hockey players from Cornell, fencers from Princeton and Columbia, and swimmers and wrestlers from more than half of the Ivies — primarily, Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Cornell. There will be no change in the Ivy decision to withdraw as a group before next January, thus carrying over the ban on participation in baseball, golf, tennis and track this spring.

The argument that has raged on the sports pages almost daily for the past several weeks was precipitated by an NCAA regulation which sought to ban scholarships for athletes below if their grades dropped below a 1.6 average (based on 4.0 as the highest rating). Although it was apparent that flagrant misuse of athletic scholarships is practiced in certain sections of the south and southwest, NCAA attempts to legislate academic policy across the nation met with firm resistance in the east, spearheaded by the Ivy League.

Despite prolonged debate, which was complicated by occasional misunderstanding and misinterpretation, the way for Ivy participation in NCAA championships this month seemed clear as recently as Friday. The lid then blew off.

 for good because of hot-head
 ad action at Penn State. Yale Six Were Acceptable. Although they had not complito the letter with the NCAA regulation, six Ivy colleges had reached agreement with the national body by filing statements that the NCAA considered a satisfactory compromise. From Philadelphia and New Haven, however, the NCAA received telegrams that interpreted as unwillingness to comply.

While the text has never been made public at either end, it was learned that Penn saw fit to include a few unsolicited opinions on television policy. Having been told, positively or negatively, there it could go, the NCAA returned the compliment, and the net result is that Penn's basketball team turned in its shirts last week instead of playing Syracuse in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

The divergence of opinion as to just how athletic eligibility should be handled led to speculation over further rifts between the Ivy colleges and the NCAA. For example, will the former be dropped from the NCAA's annual television programming this fall? At least one Ivy league has been included on the restricted schedule virtually every season for the past decade.

If the Ivies are dropped, will they seek to sell some of their top attractions to certain areas where they might attract sizeable audiences, thus competing with the NCAA TV game? Outright conflict while there is a possibility of eventual settlement appears unlikely, but the open break is inevitable and will require the better part of a year to heal, just on the time schedule alone.

The NCAA's annual meeting does not take place until January, and no change is anticipated prior to that time.
 In order to work toward modification of the eligibility ruling from within—rather than to effect a complete departure—the Ivy colleges have indicated they will retain NCAA membership until further notice.

PHS QUINTEZ ONE UP
 in NJISAA Turnout. Led by Wilbur Hines' 27 points,
 Princeton High School posted its third and most important win of the season over Asbury Park Friday at Freehold, in a first-round battle in the NJISAA Turnout. The score was 70 to 62.
 As a result, PHS was scheduled to oppose Neptune (22-1)
 Wednesday evening at Convention Hall in Asbury Park.
 The only setback marring an otherwise perfect season for the Flyers is a 61-58 upset administered, interestingly, by Asbury Park.

In its bid to master Asbury
 for the third straight time, PHS was successful and deservedly so, but it also marked the closest brush with defeat of the three. As late as 2-05 to go, the score was tied, 59-59,
 and the Blue and White was fighting for its life.
 Then came a thundering point.
 After Tom Wood hit in front by the Little Tigers in front by two, Joel Greenspan, Asbury's outstanding player, fouled out with 1:50 to go. He had scored 23 points. After that, Asbury was never able to get the equalizer.

Wood hit again and Hines followed with another two-pointer and a tight game—the score was tied seven times in the second half—suddenly saw PHS in front by six. Virtually all Asbury hope vanished when its tallest player and top rebounder, 6-4 Tom Smith, followed Greenspan by fouling out with 1:20 to go.

PHS closed out its scoring on the foul line. Eddie McE-Even, who accepted shooting from outside was a big factor in Princeton's victory, converted two 10-point situations for four points. His efforts sandwiched a similar feat by Hines.

Foul Line Decisive. It would be an accurate description to say PHS won from the foul line where it completed 18 of 23 attempts for 72 percent.

 While the best Asbury could do was sink half of its chances
 —14 of 28. From the floor
 each was equally effective PHS hitting on 26 of 63 shots and Asbury on 24 of 58, a 41 percent completion on both squads.

Princeton's best quarter was the first. After Ken Lyons got the first two points from the free throw line, Hines made the next six. The biggest first works however, were provided by the smallest player.

Ed McEwen, only 5-7, missed his first shot, but his next five were bulletsees for ten fat points which powered PHS to a 22-13 first period edge. The pattern of the play had from the Little Tigers hitting from outside with Asbury doing
 most of its scoring underneath.
 Then Princeton started to cool. From 22 points it dipped to 10 in the next quarter, and Hines accounted for eight of them. It was a typical collection from the Hines' repertoire.
 One was the culmination of a four drive, two were jumpers from the center line and a fourth came from the baseline.

At the start of the second half, Asbury, which had been content to concede PHS the outside shot, came back aggressive in its play. Concurrently, the Little Tigers got even colder.

Wood opened the half with a bucket and Hines followed with his 15th and 16th point but then Asbury elicited for the next 12 to climb from a 36-26 deficit to a 38-36 lead.
 Then it seemed as McEwen tied it at 38-38. Billy McQuade at 40-41 and Lyons at 42 and 44-41.

Volts Hits Twice. Rich Volz ended the third period with a buzzer shot and came back seconds later to open the fourth with another. The four was his only point of the game but they were vital.

Still Asbury refused to roll over. It clawed back on the lated the lead midway in the final stanza, 54-52. Hines got the right back with a three-point play.

 He scored 11 in the final showdown period.

Moments later two charity throws by McEwen and a jumper by Hines gave PHS a 58-56 margin with 2:50 to go.
 Greenspan, retaliated with three-point play to tie it again at 59-58, juncture of the after-mentioned turning point.

Hines, of course, was brilliant in victory. There was compensable haste, too, in the play of McEwen who finished second with 19 points, seven of them coming in the final period and five of those from the foul line. His total was only one less than his season's high of 20 which he reached back in December against Long Branch.

Ken Lyons was the third and last Little Tiger to reach double figures. He made 10, four in the opening period and four in the hectic third quarter. Tom Wood had eight.

HUN STREET FIGHTING
1 to Wrestling Turnouts.
James Strick, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Strick, 139 Crestview Drive, a three-year member of the Hun School wrestling team, has won first place honors in two wrestling tournaments to the 168-pound class; the Penn-Jersey Conference Tournament and the New Jersey Independent Schools Wrestling Tournament. He finished the season with a record of 15 wins and one tie in 16 matches.

Last year, Crick captured second place honors in the 157-pound class of the NJSW Tournament. In addition to wrestling, he has earned varsity letters in football and crew. He has been elected treasurer of the senior class and served as chairman of a fund-raising project for the senior lounge. He was also manager of the stage crew for a recent production of the Hun Drama Club.

TOP THREE WIN
In Industrial League. The top three teams picked on the bottom three last week in the YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball League.

ETS remained in game behind front-runner Film Center by defeating Hopewell, 60-52. Paul Harmon led ETS with 24 points in a game average—while Ed Riddick's 27 was high for the losers.

Four players reached double figures for Western Electric as it crushed Van Nostrand, 61-30, in the second game played at the Princeton High Court. Carl Harris led the scoring parade with 25 followed by Jerry Padian, 22; Wendell McPhee, 16; and Bob Easton, 10. Jim Loftus made 12 for Van Nostrand.

In a hard fought all-night Film Center was pressed by RCA before emerging with a 59-55 triumph. Tony Boenafuso and Bill Stryker combined for 37 Film Center points, the former hitting for 20, while John Dunn, Jim Clark and Pat Symms were bunched with 16.15, and 14 for RCA.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct
Film Center	11	2	.846
ETS	10	3	.769
Western Elect.	9	4	.692
RCA	4	9	.308

QUARTET PERFORMS

Lenox Players Here. On Monday night, the Lenox Quartet performed at 10 McCosh Hall a concert that was both demanding and rewarding for performers and audience alike. The program included Haydn's Quartet in Minor, Opus 20, No. 3; Quartet No. 5, 1794; by Bartok and the Quartet in E Minor, Opus 29, No. 3 by Beethoven. Members of the Lenox Quartet are Peter Marsh and Delmar Pettys, violins; Paul Hersh, cello; and Daniel McCall, violoncello.

Princeton's chamber music lovers have had more than one opportunity to hear the Lenox Quartet in their own home. This group is still very young, by the players' appearance, one would guess that their average age is no more than thirty. Since its initial Princeton debut during the summer of 1969 as guests of the seminar in contemporary music held here, the Lenox ensemble has improved immeasurably.

Peter Marsh, as first violinist of the quartet, has developed into a first rate performer, both instrumentally and as the leader of the quartet. He plays with a warm tone and interprets the music with style, verve, excitement and a variety of tone color.

The cello plays boldly and produces a big pleasing sound, although at times during the concert, he had some intonation difficulties. The second violinist and violoncello, in no ways weaker members, for their playing was noteworthy for their ability to blend with their partners, yet maintain their own respective identities.

Although the quartet shows great growth as well as some personal changes in the group, they produce something less than what is compared with the overall "round" produced by some of the ensembles we have heard here, namely, the Hungarian Quartet, and the Juilliard. Perhaps the biggest growth has been in the quartet's musicianship. They gave a creditable reading of the Haydn, a brilliant driving and intense performance of Bartok's extremely inventive and moving score, and climaxed with one of the more sensitive and subtle interpretations of one of Beethoven's lesser known masterpieces.

For this reviewer, it was the Beethoven that brought out the finest playing of the evening. There was sweep to the music, and a feeling for the form of each movement. Nowhere was this better demonstrated than during the playing of the slow movement, a world of beauty unto itself when you realize that all of Beethoven's slow movements of his quartets are excursions into the depths of the soul of man, you can only transform it into a state of suspended animation. There is much great music, but

SING ME A SONG

Folk Artel Coming. Helen Dunlop, who has visited 17 countries and brought back their songs, will share her collection with members of the Princeton Folk Music Society this Friday.

The meeting will be held at 6 p.m. in Green Hall Lounge, on the corner of Nassau and Washington Road across Washington from Firestone Library. The public is invited to attend. Miss Dunlop began to collect folk songs when she was a staff member of the department of public information at the United Nations. For his Princeton appearance, she will perform with her guitar and collect the songs she has collected.

MEN ONLY

Chorus Has Knocks Women. At the first rehearsal of the new Princeton Choral Group, director J. Bean Lackey counted 28 singers who announced that the group is now in business.

For the time being Mr. Lackey said, no more women will be auditioned, but he would like more male singers and he will hold interviews for the men this Thursday and Friday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the YMCA.

The choral group will meet each Tuesday from 7:30 to 10 at the YMCA.

sponsored by the Real Brith Women of Princeton. Mrs. Ralph Iveyman, chairman of ADL Action, has made the arrangements. Members of the Princeton community are invited.

NEW LOCATION

For Nursery School. The University League Cooperative Nursery School is now established in new quarters, the old Princeton Country Day School building. The director, Mrs. John D. Maxwell, plans to expand the school to four to five years of age. The school's new motto is that the school's new enrollees will enter the University League at a very early age. Children three or four years old, one of whose parents works for the University, are eligible for enrollment. Mrs. Murray McAndrew is accepting applications for the 1969-70 academic year. Some partial scholarships are available.

STYLE SHOW PLANNED

By Sororities. The Sororities of the Princeton Student Club of Hopedale will sponsor a Spring Style Show Saturday, April 2, at 4 in the Princeton Presbyterian Church. Clothes from the Casual Shop will be modeled by club members and their friends.

Mrs. Florence Bodine will be the emcee. Tickets are available from club members or from the club president, Mrs. Mary Carver, Shaftsbury Avenue, Hopedale.

SMITH CLUB TO MEET

To Hear Speech Talk. The Smith Club will meet Monday at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Herbert Bailey Jr., 53 Han Road.

Miss Marjorie Nicholson, former Miss Smith and now with the Institute for Advanced Study, will speak to the club. Her topic will be "The Discovery of Space."

BOOK SALE DUE AGAIN

Contributions Needed. The 30th Annual Mrs. College Benefit Book Sale will be held Wednesday, April 27, at Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Beside a wide variety of books, records, sheet music and other items for sale, Mrs. Joseph Wilder is chairman. She is being assisted by Mrs. Gilbert Nicoll and Mrs. Peter Erdman. Those wishing to donate books, records or prints should call Mrs. Wilder, 242-0053; Mrs. Nicoll, 921-6074; Mrs. Erdman, 924-0253, or Mrs. Felix Gilbert, 921-2944.

LICENSE IS SUSPENDED

For Drunken Driving. Thomas Eugene 22, Maple Avenue, Lawrenceville, has had his license suspended for six months for the violation of Motor Vehicles for driving while intoxicated in California. Richard D. Kuhn, 394 N. Ninian Boulevard, apprehended for speeding in Connecticut. His license for one month under a reciprocity agreement. Another agreement. Another speeder. Mrs. Millicen M. Friedley, 42-39 Eaglestone Street, Princeton, lost her license for 30 days.

Halted under the state's point system were James T. Sutphen, 19 Province Line Road, 45 days, and Emil R. Woodward, 31 Ober Road, one month.

YOUTHS THWARTED

In Attempted Car Theft. When Mrs. Betty Filena looked out of the window of the Grotto Restaurant, 18 West 19, she saw a young man who she owns and operates with her husband, early Monday afternoon, she noticed a young man trying to steal her 1963 Chevrolet.

The young man, Kim T. St. Theodore Lewis, who apprenticed himself to the young men's movements later on Nassau Street in the company of three other youths. Two of them, Preston L. West, 19, of Trenton, and John W. Thomas Jr., 18, of Brooklyn, were charged with failing to give a good account of themselves.

They were each fined $25 in court the same night as St. Theodore T. Tams Jr., after pleading guilty. Unable to pay the fine, were sent to the Mercer County Jail for five days.

The two other youths, both juveniles including the one identified by Mrs. Filena as the boy who attempted to steal her car, were taken to Mercer County Jail to await action by juvenile authorities.

MAN IS INJURED

Leaving Parked Car. James R. Pietriferio, 4111 Nassau Estates, was slightly injured Saturday shortly after noon, when, as he was leaving his car it was hit by another. The mishap occurred on S. Harrison Street near Hartley Avenue.

Injured against the windshield and door frame, Pietriferio was knocked momentarily unconscious. He received a twisted left arm and bruises. Mr. Pietriferio heads an accounting firm at 230 Nassau Street.

constituted a lump on his head and a cut knee. Neither was taken to a hospital. Township is seeking applications for the 1969-70 academic year. Some partial scholarships are available.

Mrs. Florence Bodine will be the emcee. Tickets are available from club members or from the club president, Mrs. Mary Carver, Shaftsbury Avenue, Hopedale.

$16,000 FOUND

At Hopedale. Troopers found more than $16,000 in the shack and car of the caretaker of the Hopedale Township dump. The caretaker, James G. Erickson, had been found dead in the shack last week.

Reside being caretaker of the dump, Mr. Erickson was a township road laborer. He lived alone in an eight-room building on Marshall's Corner Road near Route 69.

Police reported $16,019.93 in the shack and $7,410 in the car. The man also has a savings account in the Pennington Branch of the First National City Bank. The found money was deposited there.

NOVEL DISCUSSION SET

At Jewish Center. Vernice Cary of the Trenton Free Public Library and Robert Staples of the Princeton Public Library will discuss "The novel not a novel" in connection with the Trenton Branch of the Jewish Center. "Up Down Stairs" and Truman Capote's "In Cold Blood" Wednesday at 10 p.m. at the Jewish Center.

This is the third of a series of book discussions sponsored by the Jewish Center and the Princeton Public Library. Coffee will be served at 9:30. Everyone is welcome.

EGG HUNT PLANNED

By Lions Club. West Windsor Township is sponsoring its annual Easter Egg Hunt for township children from preschool age through the sixth grade April 9 at 1. The hunt will be held in the grounds of Hightstown at 4 Clarksville Road.

Games and contests are planned. Children finding specially-marked eggs and who gather the most eggs will receive prizes. The rain date for the hunt is April 16.

News Of The CHURCHES

ECUMENICIST TO SPEAK
Before Inter-Church Group—Theological Permit in the Churches" will be discussed by a British ecumenist this Sunday before an unprecedented joint supper meeting of the members of Trinity Episcopal Parish and First Presbyterian Church.

The speaker will be the Rev. Dr. John Marsh, principal of Bangor College, Bangor, University. He serves on the central committee of the World Council of Churches and is a leader in current church union conversations in Great Britain between Congregational, Methodist, Presbyterian and Anglican Churches.

Dr. Marsh will also preach at 11 a.m. on Sunday in Princeton University Chapel, and on Monday will lecture at Princeton Seminary and at a meeting of the department of religion at Princeton University.

His talk on Sunday before the two congregations is an outgrowth of the 1965 summer session at Mansfield College attended by the pastors, the Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel of First Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Dr. Robert R. Spears of Trinity. The supper meeting is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at the Nassau Inn.

Further inter-church activities planned by the two denominations include a pupil exchange on Sunday, April 24, between Dr. Spears and Dr. Meisel, and the Rev. Charles Newberry of All Saints Church will exchange pupils with the Rev. Howard Thomas of Witterspoon Street Presbyterian Church.

A joint meeting of the session of First Presbyterian Church and the rector, wardens and vestrymen of Trinity is in the planning stage. According to a letter sent on Thursday by Dr. Spears and to Mr. Thibault by their congrega-

ECUMENICAL MOVIE The Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel (right) of First Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Dr. Robert R. Spears of Trinity Parish have arranged a joint congregational supper this Sunday at the Nassau Inn. The speaker will be British ecumenist and churchman John Marsh. The two denominations are among the seven participating in the Consultation on Church Union proposed in 1960 by Rev. Dr. Eugene C. Blake and headed by Rev. Dr. James I. McCord of Princeton Seminary.

During the activities are in response to a recent resolution of the Consultation on Church Union signed member churches to "encourage joint study groups, prayer for church union and the widespread invitation of pupil guests across denominational lines."

TO EXPAND PROGRAM Of Coffeeshop. The Next hour, a coffee house established in November for college-age adults in the basement of First Presbyterian Church, will inaugurate open discussion every Friday and Saturday evening from 9:30 on. The Next Door is patronized by the students of the university, seminary and the choir college, with a sprinkling of young people from other churches. The 12 tables, candlelit in bohemian fashion, are usually filled by 10:30 p.m. The folk music on the stereo is augmented by hot cider, coffee, tea and pastries, and occasionally there is live entertainment by singers, guitarists.

MID-VICTORIAN — MID-BOROUGH: with gas fireplace, high ceilings, back stairway, chestnut woodwork and a real parlor — the works! Big family dining room, second living room, upstairs sitting room, live bedrooms. Spacious lot with trees. Priced in the mid $40's, but the owner will talk.

COULD BE THE BUY OF THE CENTURY: well, at the time, anyway. We mean it! A sprawling country house on two acres of woods in the Western township which has been raised by its anxious-to-sell owner at fully $12,000 under the current tax evaluation. It is six bedrooms, 3½ baths, an elegant living room with marble fireplace, a dining room with french doors to the lawn, a fully equipped kitchen, breakfast room with fireplace, $10,000 swimming pool and brick-walled terrace sound swimming, then by all means be the one who takes advantage of this smashing opportunity. Built by one of Princeton's best-known builders and offered for the first time at this unbelievable price. $57,500

SPOT A YEN TO BUILD THIS SPRING? We have two wonderful, wooded, south-sloping acres in the Western Section of Princeton Township just off the Great Road which seem as awfully good buy. City water and sewer (now a building). Look for our sign on Ridgeway Road. $16,000

DOWN WITH TOGETHERNESS! A little sparkiness is what an active young family often craves and a well designed house on more than two levels can be the way to accomplish it. We have just listed such a house on a beautifully wooded half acre in the Littlebrook school district. On the entrance level, there's a living room with fireplace, dining room opening to screened porch, brand new kitchen and glass-walled breakfast room. Up a few steps are three bedrooms and 1½ baths and down a few, are a fourth bedroom, bath and playroom all with access to the back yard. $39,500

"CHARMING OLDER HOME IN NEARBY VILLAGE: Don't you love that line? It usually turns out to be something a touch rustic in East Hamilton Square. This one, however, happens to be a rather quaint turn-of-the-century job with real possibilities in our favorite nearby village — Pennington. Four bedrooms, two baths, 2½ living room, den with fireplace, very respectable kitchen. Old shade trees. $22,500

THE GOLDEN RECTANGLE

Ever since the Greeks built their Parthenon fine proportion has been one of architecture's highest goals; and rarest achievements. The sense of peace, of rightness that well proportioned design can give
is too seldom found in contemporary buildings.

Your first glance at this big, traditional house will tell you just what an impressive endowment good proportion can be.

Indoors the downstairs rooms include a wide center hall, small, formal drawing room with fireplace, large living room with fireplace, lavatory, dining room and big kitchen with family dining ell overlooking garden.

There are both back and front staircases, the rear one emerging beside the children's playroom.
There are 5 bedrooms and 4 baths upstairs, all opening on the roomy hall. Full basement and attached garage.

An unusually lovely house which combines bounty,
dignity and warmth.

Less than five minutes from Riverside School but a very long way beyond the ordinary big house built today.

POSTAL PATRON

Thorne PHARMACY

secret is this strong pliable
"inner bottle"

Here's the new Nurser that has revolutionized baby feeding

Dramatically reduces spitting up, gas pains and colic

Unlike ordinary bottles, Playtex Nurser needs no air inside to make formula flow. Pliable "inner bottle" contracts as baby feeds, as in natural breast feeding.

"Natural-Action" nipple cannot collapse. Your baby takes in more formula, less swallowed air to cause spitting up, gas pains and colic. Baby feeds and sleeps better, gains weight fast.

The "inner bottle" is presterilized and disposable—No bottles to scrub or sterilize. No sterilizing equipment needed. Used in hospitals and homes in over 10 million feedings. Get the new Playtex Nurser for your baby. Complete kit only $8.95
